General Shale Donates Materials for St. Jude Dream Home Giveaway in Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. – General Shale, a longtime provider of brick for high-quality commercial and residential projects throughout the nation, contributed building products for the 2014 St. Jude Dream Home Giveaway in Chattanooga.

Headquartered in Johnson City, Tennessee, General Shale is the North American subsidiary of Wienerberger AG and a leading manufacturer of brick, one of the world's oldest green building materials.

General Shale provided more than 800 square feet of brick for the 4,100-square-foot home, along with mortar and sand. The home, which took nearly five months to complete, has an estimated value of $500,000 and is located in The Canyons at Falling Water in Hixson, Tennessee. The winner of the Giveaway, Jodie Westwood of Cleveland, Tennessee, was presented with the new home in June.

The St. Jude Dream Home Giveaway is among the largest single-event fundraisers for St. Jude's Children Research Hospitals. Since the first Dream Home Giveaway in 1991, the program has raised more than $260 million. The 2014 program includes more than 30 St. Jude Dream Home Giveaways throughout the U.S., including Chattanooga.

“General Shale is proud to be a sponsor of the St. Jude Dream Home in Chattanooga, and we are delighted to have been a part of such a worthy cause,” says Charles Smith, General Shale president and CEO. “The high-quality masonry products used in this project will provide long-lasting beauty and sustainability for this special residence.”
